

Special Issue on Brain Injury and Rehabilitation

Call for Papers

A brain injury is an injury to the brain of a living organism, and can be categorized by many properties. Brain injuries have far-reaching and varied consequences due to the nature of the brain as the main source of bodily control. Brain-injured people commonly experience issues with memory. Brain injury can also affect muscle control and coordination ranging from difficulty writing to being unable to perform basic bodily functions such as swallowing or coughing. Behavioral and personality changes are also commonly observed due to changes of the brain structure in areas controlling hormones or major emotions. Headaches and pain can also occur as a result of a brain injury either directly from the damage or due to neurological conditions stemming from the injury.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Brain Injury and Rehabilitation. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Traumatic brain injury
- Brain inquiries and cognitive impairment
- Brain ischemia and brain damage
- Associated sensory problems
- Relative mental disorders
- Nursing and intervention
- Operative approaches and care
- Brain imaging and diagnosis
- Mechanism and treatment
- Complications
- Cerebral palsy
- Cerebral cortex and intracranial injury

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Brain Injury and Rehabilitation” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	August 29th, 2020
Publication Date	October 2020

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

JBBS Editorial Office
jbbs@scirp.org