

Special Issue on Exploitation and Sustainable Development of Natural Resources

Call for Papers

Natural resources are resources that exist in the natural environment which can be used by humankind. A natural resource may exist as a separate entity such as air, water, land as well as a living organism such as a fish, or it may exist in an alternate form that must be processed to obtain the resource such as metal ores, petroleum, and most forms of energy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Exploitation and Sustainable Development of Natural Resources. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Renewable resource
- Non-renewable resource
- Solar energy
- Tidal energy
- Wind energy
- Geothermal energy
- Fossil fuels
- New technologies

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Exploitation and Sustainable Development of Natural Resources” should be selected during your submission.
