

Special Issue Applied Psychology

Call for Papers

Applied psychology is the study of people: how they think, act, react and interact. Psychologists scientifically study all kinds of behaviour and the thoughts, feelings and motivations underlying behaviour. Psychology examines questions such as: how do people act on a first date? How can we ease the effects of parental divorce on children? How can we make teams work efficiently? How can we help people to overcome depression or phobias?

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore applied psychology. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Education and school psychology
- Clinical and counseling psychology
- Management psychology
- Consumer psychology
- Environmental psychology
- Legal psychology
- Sports psychology
- Engineering psychology
- Rehabilitation psychology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Applied Psychology” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 19th, 2017
Publication Date	March 2017

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at psych@scirp.org