

Special Issue on Applied Psychology

Call for Papers

Applied psychology is the use of psychological methods and findings of scientific psychology to solve practical problems of human and animal behavior and experience. Mental health, organizational psychology, business management, education, health, product design, ergonomics, and law are just a few of the areas that have been influenced by the application of psychological principles and findings.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Applied Psychology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Psychology and business study
- Behaviors analysis
- Psychological methods and health
- Psychological theory and applications
- Social and clinical practice
- Work, society and psychology
- Psychological analysis of performance
- Family studies
- Problems management

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Applied Psychology” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:
