

Special Issue on Personality Psychology

Call for Papers

Personality is defined as the characteristic set of behaviors, cognitions, and emotional patterns that evolve from biological and environmental factors. Most theories focus on motivation and psychological interactions with one's environment. The study of the psychology of personality, attempts to explain the tendencies that underlie differences in behavior.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Personality Psychology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Borderline personality disorder
- Personality traits and cognitive abilities
- Individual behavior and psychological differences
- Personality and work behavior
- Students personality and performance
- Personality traits, emotion regulation and behaviors
- Family influence and therapy
- Personality, motivation and stress coping
- Personality and mental health
- Child development
- Psychology of the self
- Self-esteem and narcissism
- Big-five personality models and evaluation
- Interpersonal problems
- Extraversion and performance

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Personality Psychology” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	June 8th, 2020
Publication Date	August 2020

Scientific Research
Open Access

Psychology
ISSN Online: 2152-7199

---

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org