

Special Issue on International Law and Policy

Call for Papers

International Law and Policy is a multidisciplinary field that examines the legal principles, norms, and institutional frameworks governing relations among states, international organizations, and other global actors. It addresses the development, interpretation, and implementation of international treaties, customary international law, and regulatory regimes across areas such as human rights, trade, security, environmental protection, and global health. The field also explores the interaction between law and policy, analyzing how political interests, power dynamics, and diplomatic practices influence the creation and enforcement of international legal rules. By combining legal analysis with policy-oriented perspectives, International Law and Policy seeks to promote cooperation, stability, and the rule of law in the international system.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring International Law and Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Comparative international legal systems
- Foreign policy and diplomacy
- Global regulatory policy
- International criminal law
- International dispute settlement
- International economic policy
- International environmental law
- International human rights law
- International humanitarian law
- International investment law
- International migration and refugee law
- International organizations and governance
- International security and arms control
- International trade law
- Law of the sea
- Public international law

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *International Law and Policy” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	May 18th, 2026
Publication Date	July 2026

Guest Editor:

Dr. Kechagia Polyxeni
University of Thessaly, Greece

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at papersubmissionmcy@gmail.com

BLR Editorial Office
blr@scirp.org