

Special Issue on International Law and Policy

Call for Papers

International Law and Policy encompasses the principles, rules, institutions, and policy frameworks governing relations among states, international organizations, and other actors in the global system. Key areas include international treaties, human rights law, international trade law, international environmental law, international security, diplomatic relations, international dispute settlement, humanitarian law, and the law of international organizations. The field also examines the development and implementation of international policies in response to global challenges such as armed conflict, migration, climate change, economic globalization, public health, and transnational crime, while considering the interaction between international legal norms, national legislation, governance mechanisms, and evolving global institutions.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring International Law and Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- International public law
- International human rights law
- International humanitarian law
- International criminal law
- International trade law
- International economic law
- International environmental law
- International investment law
- International maritime law
- International refugee law
- International security law
- International organizations
- International dispute settlement
- International treaties
- International diplomacy
- Global governance

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - International Law and Policy” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	December 18th, 2026
Publication Date	February 2027

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at papersubmissionmcy@gmail.com

BLR Editorial Office
blr@scirp.org