

Special Issue on Sexual and Reproductive Health

Call for Papers

Sexual and Reproductive Health focuses on the physical, mental and social well-being related to sexuality and reproductive processes across the lifespan. It addresses topics such as family planning, maternal health, sexually transmitted infections, fertility, reproductive rights, gender equity, and access to health services. The field emphasizes evidence-based care, public health interventions and policies that promote safe, informed, and respectful reproductive health outcomes.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Sexual and Reproductive Health. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Sexual dysfunction & disorders
- Sexual disease prevention and management
- Reproductive health services
- Sexually transmitted infections
- HIV/AIDS prevention, testing and treatment
- Maternal and perinatal health
- Adolescent sexual and reproductive health
- Men's sexual and reproductive health
- Contraception and family planning
- Fertility, infertility and assisted reproduction
- Sexual health education and promotion
- Reproductive rights and health policy
