

Special Issue on Sustainable Finance and Green Investment

Call for Papers

Sustainable Finance and Green Investment explores financial strategies, instruments, and policies that promote environmental sustainability, social responsibility, and long-term economic resilience. This special issue covers areas such as green bonds, ESG investing, impact investing, climate finance, renewable energy funding, and sustainable infrastructure investment. Emphasis is placed on innovative financial models, risk assessment, regulatory frameworks, and practical applications that align capital flows with environmental and social goals, highlighting how financial systems can drive low-carbon transitions, support sustainable development, and foster responsible investment practices worldwide.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Sustainable Finance and Green Investment. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Green bonds and climate finance
- Environmental, social, and governance (ESG) investing
- Impact investing
- Renewable energy financing
- Low-carbon and sustainable investment strategies
- Sustainable asset and portfolio management
- Climate risk assessment and management
- Green infrastructure finance
