

Special Issue on International Trade and Global Economy

Call for Papers

International Trade and Global Economy studies the exchange of goods, services, capital, and technology across national borders and its impact on economic development and global markets. It examines trade theories, international finance, globalization, trade policies and economic integration. The field also analyzes issues such as tariffs, exchange rates, global supply chains, and international institutions, aiming to understand how cross-border economic activities influence growth, competitiveness and economic stability worldwide.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on International Trade and Global Economy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- International trade theory
- Trade policy and regulation
- Economic globalization
- Macroeconomics, trade & investment
- Macroeconomics of the global economy
- International finance
- Regional economic integration
- Political economy of trade
- Global value chains
- Development economics and trade
- Digital trade and global e-commerce
- Trade and labor markets
- International monetary economics and finance
- International marketing and emerging markets
- Foreign direct investment and multinational enterprises
- International trade and the environment
- Global supply chains and trade networks
- International economic organizations
- Trade and technology transfer

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *International Trade and Global Economy” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	June 8th, 2026
Publication Date	August 2026

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

ME Editorial Office