

Special Issue on Gastrointestinal Disorders

Call for Papers

Gastrointestinal Disorders encompass a broad spectrum of conditions affecting the digestive system, including the esophagus, stomach, intestines, liver, pancreas, and associated structures. These disorders range from common functional conditions such as irritable bowel syndrome to inflammatory, infectious, and malignant diseases, including inflammatory bowel disease and gastrointestinal cancers. Advances in endoscopy, imaging, molecular diagnostics, and microbiome research have significantly improved the understanding of disease mechanisms, early detection, and targeted treatment strategies. Ongoing research continues to enhance clinical management through personalized therapies, minimally invasive interventions, and integrated care approaches aimed at improving patient outcomes and quality of life.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Gastrointestinal Disorders. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Esophageal disorders
- Gastric diseases
- Intestinal disorders
- Inflammatory bowel disease
- Functional gastrointestinal disorders
- Gastrointestinal infections
- Liver diseases
- Pancreatic disorders
- Gastrointestinal oncology
- Digestive system microbiome
- Gastrointestinal motility disorders
- Nutritional and malabsorption disorders
- Endoscopic diagnosis and therapy
- Gastrointestinal bleeding disorders
- Pediatric gastrointestinal diseases
- Hepatobiliary disorders

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Gastrointestinal Disorders” should be selected during your submission.
