Special Issue on Leadership and Decision-Making

Call for Papers

Leadership and Decision-Making examines the principles, practices, and processes that shape effective leadership and informed decision-making across organizations and institutions. It includes leadership theories, strategic thinking, organizational behavior, decision-making models, problem-solving approaches, team management, communication, conflict resolution, ethical leadership, and change management. Particular attention is given to leadership styles, critical thinking, risk assessment, stakeholder engagement, and the use of data and technology in supporting managerial decisions. Research in this area contributes to a deeper understanding of leadership effectiveness, organizational performance, innovation, and sustainable development in diverse professional and organizational settings.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Leadership and Decision-Making. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Leadership theories and models
