

---

Special Issue on Linguistic Studies and International Literary

Call for Papers

Linguistic Studies and International Literary explores the relationship between language, literature, culture, and global communication across different societies and historical periods. This field examines linguistic theory, language structure, discourse analysis, translation studies, literary criticism, and cross-cultural literary expression. It also investigates how language and literature reflect social identity, cultural exchange, historical development, and international perspectives. Through interdisciplinary approaches, the subject contributes to a deeper understanding of human communication, literary traditions, and the cultural interactions shaping the modern world.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Linguistic Studies and International Literary. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Applied linguistics
- Comparative literature
- Translation studies
- Sociolinguistics
- Literary criticism
- Discourse analysis
- World literature
- Phonetics and phonology
- Syntax and semantics
- Cultural literary studies
- Historical linguistics
- Multilingual communication
- Narrative studies
- Digital humanities
- Intercultural communication
- Literary theory

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

---

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Linguistic Studies and International Literary” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	September 9th, 2026
Publication Date	November 2026

Guest Editor:

Dr. Diana Popa
School of World Languages and Cultures
University of Vermont, USA

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ojml@scirp.org.