Special Issue on
Logical Theory and Philosophical Analysis

Call for Papers

Logical Theory and Philosophical Analysis explores the foundations, methods, and applications of reasoning, argumentation, and conceptual inquiry in philosophy. This theme focuses on formal and informal logic, critical thinking, analytical frameworks, and the philosophical examination of language, knowledge, and reality. By bridging theoretical developments with practical analysis, the issue aims to illuminate how logical principles inform ethical reasoning, epistemology, metaphysics, and decision-making. It provides a platform for scholars to investigate rigorous argument structures, evaluate philosophical problems, and advance understanding of reasoning processes across diverse domains of human thought.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Logical Theory and Philosophical Analysis. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Argumentation theory and analysis
- Cognitive science and philosophical logic
- Decision theory and rational choice
- Deductive and inductive reasoning
- Deontic and normative logic
- Epistemology and theory of knowledge
- Formal logic and symbolic reasoning
- Informal logic and critical thinking
- Logic in ethics and moral reasoning
- Metaphysics and ontology
- Modal logic and possible worlds
- Paraconsistent and non-classical logics
- Philosophical semantics
- Philosophy of language
- Philosophy of mathematics and foundations of logic
- Philosophy of mind and consciousness

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - *Logical Theory and Philosophical Analysis” should be selected during your submission.
