Special Issue on Mental Health and Psychiatric Care

Call for Papers

Mental Health and Psychiatric Care addresses the prevention, assessment, diagnosis, treatment, and management of mental health conditions across diverse populations and care settings. It includes psychiatric disorders, psychological well-being, psychotherapeutic interventions, psychopharmacology, psychiatric rehabilitation, crisis intervention, and community-based mental health services. Attention is also given to early intervention, digital mental health technologies, culturally responsive care, patient-centered treatment approaches, and the integration of mental health services into general healthcare. The topic supports research and clinical practice aimed at improving treatment outcomes, reducing stigma, promoting psychological resilience, and enhancing access to effective and equitable mental health care.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Mental Health and Psychiatric Care. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Clinical psychiatry
- Mental health assessment and diagnosis
- Psychotherapy and psychological interventions
- Psychopharmacology and medication management
- Mood and anxiety disorders
- Psychotic and schizophrenia spectrum disorders
- Trauma-related and stress-related disorders
- Child and adolescent psychiatry
