

Special Issue on Rehabilitation and Treatment

Call for Papers

Rehabilitation and Treatment focuses on restoring, maintaining, and improving physical, cognitive, and functional abilities in individuals affected by injury, illness, or disability. It integrates clinical medicine, physical therapy, occupational therapy, and multidisciplinary care approaches to enhance patient recovery and quality of life. The field emphasizes evidence-based interventions, personalized treatment plans, and the use of advanced technologies such as robotics, neurorehabilitation tools, and telemedicine. By addressing both acute and chronic conditions, rehabilitation and treatment aim to reduce functional limitations, promote independence, and support long-term health outcomes across diverse patient populations.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Rehabilitation and Treatment. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Physical rehabilitation
- Occupational therapy
- Speech and language therapy
- Neurorehabilitation
- Musculoskeletal rehabilitation
- Cardiopulmonary rehabilitation
- Pediatric rehabilitation
- Geriatric rehabilitation
- Sports injury rehabilitation
- Pain management
- Prosthetics and orthotics
- Cognitive rehabilitation
- Psychological rehabilitation
- Assistive technology
- Rehabilitation nursing
- Functional recovery assessment

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Rehabilitation and Treatment” should be selected during your submission.
