Special Issue on General Surgery

Call for Papers

General surgery is a medical discipline focused on the preoperative, operative, and postoperative management of patients undergoing surgical procedures. It covers a wide range of procedures involving the gastrointestinal tract, thyroid, skin, breast, and hernias, among others. Surgeons in this field are trained to handle both elective and emergency surgeries, often acting as the first responders to trauma cases. The discipline requires expertise in anatomy, pathology, and surgical techniques, ensuring comprehensive care and management of various surgical conditions.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on General Surgery. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Abdominal surgery
- Gastrointestinal surgery
- Colorectal surgery
- Hepatobiliary surgery
- Breast surgery
- Endocrine surgery
- Vascular surgery
- Cardiovascular surgery
- Surgical oncology
- Trauma and critical care surgery
- Pediatric surgery
- Transplant surgery
- Global surgery
- Minimally invasive surgery
- Technology integration

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field "Special Issue – *General Surgery" should be chosen during your submission.
