

Special Issue on Macroeconomics

Call for Papers

Macroeconomics is the field of economics that studies the behavior of the aggregate economy. Macroeconomics examines economy-wide phenomena such as changes in unemployment, national income, rate of growth, gross domestic product, inflation and price levels.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring macroeconomics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Output and income
- Unemployment
- Inflation and deflation
- Macroeconomic models
- Macroeconomic policy
- Macroeconomics development

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Macroeconomics” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	September 12th, 2016
Publication Date	October 2016
